Dear Mr. Yuan Liu:

I am writing to invite you to join Dr. Yang Ke in attending the National Academy of Medicine's (NAM) upcoming annual meeting on October 14-16, 2017, in Washington, D.C., U.S.A.

The meetings will be held in the National Academy of Sciences building, located at 2100 Constitution Avenue, N.W. in Washington, D.C. We will be hosting a New Member Dinner Celebration (Saturday, October 14). On Sunday, October 15 we will be holding member only meeting during the day, but welcome you to join us for the mixer to close out the day.

The third day of the meeting, Monday, October 16, will open with my annual report to the members. An open, public scientific program will follow, focused on "Developmental Neurosciences: Do We Know Enough to Prevent or Reverse Major Behavioral Disorders?" At the end of the program will be my President's Forum on the U.S. Opioid Epidemic. We will wrap up the event with our traditional reception for members and Washington-area guests.

I do hope you can join us on October 14-16, 2017, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
